Property GARDENS

Gardening on a shoestring

Hannah Stephenson finds a few ways to save wasting the precious pennies

I'm the first to admit I've made costly mistakes in my garden over the years.

I've planted specimens in the wrong place, made impulse buys at the garden centre of impractical plants which weren't going to survive in the frost pocket where I live and bought pretty pots that didn't go with my house or my existing collection.

But now I've opened gardener Alex Mitchell's new book, Gardening On A Shoestring, which gives budget-conscious gardeners some ideas on how to save money, all that waste is in the past.

"We've all done it - stumped up on plants, tools and endless bits of plastic kit and then thrown them at the garden in the hope that they will miraculously organise themselves into something beautiful," she says. But you don't need all that clutter to be a successful gardener.

Here's a few of her tips on how to create a garden on a budget:

■ Make seedy savings: Many plants grow easily from seed, including sweet peas, cosmos, flowering tobacco, cornflowers and Californian poppy. A packet containing around 100 seeds can cost you a fifth of the price of one plant. From mid-spring to early summer, just scatter them directly on to finely-raked garden soil in a sunny spot, rake them in and water well.

■ Club together: If you're buying online, group your purchases with friends to save on postage costs and look out for bargains if you order a multiple of one specific plant.

■ Garden centre or car boot?: Don't rule out cut-price pound stores and car boot sales, which often have good plants for much less. When buying plants, don't buy the ones already in full flower. Look for those with unopened flower buds or wait until the end of summer to buy shrubs and perennials, when garden centres discount their stock. Autumn is also a good time for planting.

■ Pots for a pittance: Use your imagination. Upcycle old containers such as tins, bowls and colanders to give your garden instant character. If you want to go big and brazen, brightly coloured plastic tubs can make good flower and fruit containers. Alternatively, ask your local deli for huge empty tins which have held olive oil, or other vintage tins, taking off the labels and letting them rust naturally. Just drill holes in the bottom of them.

■ Be waterwise: Instead of investing in an expensive automatic irrigation system for your potted plants, save your old one-litre plastic bottles, discard the lid, cut off the base of the bottle and push it lid end down into the compost beside your plant. When the bottle doesn't fall over, it's deep enough. Fill it with water and it will drip out gradually, direct to the plant roots.

■ Thrifty Topiary: If you want to recreate the effect of topiary in a box, use a different plant.

Ilex crenata, or Japanese holly, looks almost the same as box and can be pruned in the same way, but tends to be more affordable and won't suffer from box blight, a disease which can wipe out box in a flash.

■ Hedge your bets: If you want to create a hedge, take advantage of bare-root offers at the end of the planting season (which runs from winter to early spring). Good offers tend to come up towards the end of winter when nurseries are trying to get rid of their bare-root stock.

■ Pave the way: If your urban garden has an old concrete path you want to renew on a shoestring, be warned that the cost of breaking it up and removing it may be high. If the concrete is sound, you can lay paving stones on top of it, or alternatively use tiles, laying them on a layer of mortar or a resin bonding adhesive.

■ Gardening On A Shoestring by Alex Mitchell is published by Kyle, priced £16.99. Available now

Good Enough To Eat

This luxury vegetable which used to only be available in late April and May but now seems to be in supermarkets all year round may take a little work initially but you should reap rich rewards for years to come. An estimated 10 established plants should yield around 3kg of spears over a six-week period annually for up to 20 years. The easiest way to start a bed is to buy the crowns - dormant bases of one-year-old plants - in April. They need to be planted in well-drained, neutral or slightly alkaline soil with plenty of added well-rotted organic matter, allowing 45cm between plants and 90cm between rows. Dig a trench wide enough to spread the roots out and lay the crown gently on a mound in the centre of the trench with roots spread on either side. The top of the crown should be around 13cm below the soil surface. Cover with loose soil. You need to be patient as the spears aren't harvested for the first two years after planting the crowns. When you do start to pick, do it from late spring until early summer, when the plants should be left to build next year's crop.

What to do this week

- Begin to harden off young plants and overwintered cuttings.
- Remove insulation from the greenhouse.
- Apply spring fertilisers, weedkillers and mosskillers to established lawns.
- Prune tender climbers and wall shrubs before leaves open fully.
- Plant summer hanging baskets and windowboxes but keep under cover until all danger of frost has passed.
- Plant up herbs in containers.
- Cut back old hydrangea flowers to a healthy pair of buds.
- Lift and divide congested perennials such as campanulas and monardas.
- Sow peas, carrots, parsnips, lettuces, spinach, Brussels sprouts and kohlrabi outside.
- Sow seeds of tomatoes in a heated propagator or on a warm windowsill, to grow on outdoors when all danger of frost has passed

Mum needs £2k to help support Ashley's dream

BY NATALIE WALKER
natalie.walker1@jpress.co.uk
@NWalkerWIG

A Garswood girl who began raising money when she was just a toddler may miss out on her dreams of becoming a global ambassador unless her mum can stump up cash to fly out to support her.

Ashley Vose was crowned Miss Junior UK Dreams and is now preparing for the world final in the USA in June. But the seven-year-old needs a chaperone and her mum, Jayne, is frantically trying to lay her hands on £2,000 to fund flights and accommodation.

Jayne said: "Under the competition, Ashley gets to travel for free but as she is only seven, she needs a chaperone and so I need to go but I have to pay for myself.

"It has happened all so quick, as we only found out she won in February and now I need £2,000.

"This is not a holiday for me. It is an organised trip for Ashley to compete in the world final of Miss Junior Dreams.

"If I can't raise the money I will have to tell her she can't go - she will be devastated. Given all the things she has done for charity, how can I deny her the opportunity to compete?"

Ashley won over judges with her fund-raising efforts, as despite suffering from meningitis as a baby and having a kidney infection, she has raised more than £22,000 for various charities over the last five-and-a-half years.

Jayne added: "Ashley has always wanted to help others. Even at 18 months old she did the Race For Life. She saw an advert for it on TV and loved the idea of dressing in pink so she wanted to do it. We had to carry her for part of it but she got such a buzz from helping others and ever since she has done charity work, helping Ronald McDonald House, Help For Heroes, Wigan and Leigh Hospice, Autistic Society, Brain Tumour UK, Cancer Research UK, and Dream Queens.

FIRST DRIVE: RANGE ROVER SPORT SVR

RANGE ROVER TURNS UP THE FUN

AT first glance, the Range Rover Sport SVR should be recognisable, if somewhat different from how you remember it.

This is the pumped-up, pimped-out Sport, and while that might seem a world away from a typical Range Rover, the reality is buyers want more - which the SVR supplies in spades.

So with an SVR, you get 20-inch wheels (with the option of 21s) and other modest external flourishes including more vents at the front, side skirts and a large spoiler on top of the tailgate.

More importantly there's more power under the bonnet from the 5.0-litre supercharged V8 and revised damper settings for better control. The interior also gets some smart new seats and a retrim.

LOOKS AND IMAGE

If it's subtle you're after, then the SVR might not be for you.

Sure, finished in black you might mistake it for a standard car, but one brief blast from the exhaust will change all that. It squats on its huge wheels and the big front air vents - essential for cooling the engine and brakes - certainly give it some significant menace. It's clear that Land Rover is going Porsche chasing with the SVR, and although the name tag is new, it probably won't be long before the SVR logo signifies business.

SPACE AND PRACTICALITY

Happily the SVR doesn't give away much in the way of practicality compared to the standard Range Rover Sport.

The only concession is the reshaped rear seat, while still offering three seat belts is really optimised for two. However, there's still plenty of space front and rear, and although it's not as big as a full-size Range Rover, you should be able to deal with most eventualities.

It even retains a useful amount of off-road ability; quite a lot more than anyone spending this much money would dare use in any case.

TALKING SPORT

With JOHN YATES

Stephen Bunting has battled his way to the business end of the Betway Premier Darts League competition... by a whisker. The St Helens ace looked in grave danger of exiting from the Sky TV tournament during Judgement Night in Manchester when trailing Belgium's Kim Huybrechts 4-1 but stormed back to earn a 6-6 draw to keep his title hopes alive and, at the same time, ensure his rival's interest in the event was at an end.

"Kim's a good friend and I feel sorry for him because he's done well in the Premier League on his debut this season," said Bunting. "I knew before the game that I only needed two legs but I was going for the win. "At the start of the game Kim put the pressure on me and it was always going to be difficult after going 3-0 down.

"This is my first Premier League and was something new for me, and I was really nervous, so I'm so happy. "The aim tonight was to stay in but also not to lose so this point could be massive going into the rest of the season. "I hit doubles at the right times and I think I deserved to win the game tonight. I'm enjoying the season so far and I want to stay at the top."

There was no such problems for Dave Chisnall - the St Helens lad strengthening his place inside the top four with a fine comeback from 3-0 and 4-2 down to defeat Phil Taylor 7-4, punishing the 16-time world champion for uncharacteristically missing 15 darts at a double during the contest.

"I started very slowly but pulled it out at the end," said Chisnall.

"Phil missed a few doubles and I capitalised on it and fortunately I got the win. "My scoring wasn't brilliant but I finished well. I've not beaten Phil for a while and even though he wasn't at his best, I'll take the win and I'm happy.

"To be up there in the top four, even though I've not been at my best, is not bad. People were tipping me to be eliminated so I've proved them wrong so far!" The Betway Premier League will continue tomorrow (Thursday) in Sheffield as the players begin the second phase of the season by taking part in the first of six further league nights before May's play-offs.

Nobody will be more pleased with the progress made by League 13, which encourages players to work towards short, medium and long term education and career goals, than its chairman and Saints skipper Jon Wilkin.

Following first year funding, League 13 (an association of professional RL players within Super League) has released a career transition film which features many players - including Rugby Union-bound Kevin Sinfield, Wilkin and former Saints and Warrington star Lee Briers. Wilkin said: "We're really grateful to the Tom Maynard Trust for providing support for us in this way. "We face great challenges in trying to help young, emerging professionals deal with education and personal development issues as they make their way in the sport and help those coming into the twilight of their career with that difficult transition of change.

"I believe this is a top quality professional educational and awareness film which can be used by all facets of the game to help players at all levels to look seriously at their career planning."

I've never been a person who reads too much into stats as they can often be interpreted in differing ways.

But I have to hold up my hand and say that one set of facts and figures which emerged from Good Friday's derby showdown at the DW Stadium presented a true reflection on the closeness of a blood-and-thunder encounter in which no quarter was asked or given.

During the 80 minutes a total of 726 tackles were executed (368 by Saints and 358 by Wigan) - a testimony to the commitment of two dedicated sets of players.

Topsy-turvy is the best way to describe the early rounds of Super League in which unexpected results have been coming thick and fast. Who would have predicted defeats for Saints, Wigan and Warrington on Easter Monday and that Hull KR - next to the bottom of the table not too long ago - now find themselves in fourth spot?

It has certainly created a great deal of interest, especially in a new-look competition in which every minute of every match matters.

Roll on the rest of the summer!

Town let leads slip and drop to second bottom

ASHTON ATHLETIC 4
ST HELENS TOWN 3

St Helens Town twice let slip a lead in their away game at landlords Ashton Athletic on Easter Monday and paid a heavy price - dropping to next to bottom in the NW Counties Premier League.

Town weathered Ashton's early pressure and then took the game to their high-flying landlords, building a 2-0 lead before half-time, but they were left to rue missing a third, gilt-edged chance which would have put them well ahead before the break.

Town went ahead on six minutes when Liam Hynes' shot was blocked and Aaron Morris netted from close range. Andy Gillespie then volleyed a superb second over keeper Jay Foulds midway through the first half, before Jack Golding fired wide when it looked easier to score.

Town were made to pay for that missed chance as, with only seven minutes of the second half gone, Ashton levelled the game at 2-2. Daniel Greene scored the first when a missed defensive header landed right at his feet and, a few minutes later, Ryan Small netted after the Town defence failed to clear a high ball. Town went ahead again on 55 minutes when Morris scored at the second attempt. However, with only 10 minutes left, Athletic equalised at 3-3 after Town again failed to deal with a high ball into the box.

A draw still looked on the cards as the game went into added time, but, first Town captain Gillespie had to be helped off the pitch with what looked like a serious ankle injury then, the referee failed to notice a foul from substitute Kusaloka and the ball broke for Gilchrist to score the winning goal.

This latest defeat leaves Town in deep trouble and, irrespective of the forthcoming results of their rivals Barnoldswick, AFC Blackpool and bottom club Bacup, they will surely have to win both their remaining home games against Maine Road and Silsden to stand any chance of avoiding relegation for the first time since 1956.

Scarborough comeback sees them snatch a draw

PRESCOT CABLES 2
SCARBOROUGH ATHLETIC 2

Scarborough came from two goals behind to snatch a draw with two late goals in a thrilling encounter at Hope Street.

Cables stopper Ben Morrow was the busier of the two goalkeepers early on - blocking a shot from Cameron Murray who then struck the post with his second attempt.

But, after surviving this spell of pressure, Cables opened the scoring after 14 minutes.

far post who made no mistake from 15 yards.

Cables then wasted a glorious opportunity on 36 minutes when Cracknell lost possession under pressure from Jenkins and Corlett and Phillips fired over with an open goal to aim at.

A Neil Prince free-kick then struck the underside of the cross bar to deny Cables a second goal. Scarborough had the ball in the net on the hour mark, but it was ruled out for offside. Cables made a double substitution on 74 minutes and appeared to have put the game to bed when they scored their second goal three minutes later - Phillips chipping an exquisite finish. However, Scarborough responded immediately, pulling a goal back inside a minute.

A long ball through the Cables defence put Gary Bradshaw clear and, although Morrow managed to push away Bradshaw's shot, Blott scored from the rebound.

With time running out, Scarborough threw everything at Cables in search of an equaliser but gifted Cables a gilt-edged chance three minutes into injury time.

After Cracknell saved, he launched the ball forward and, from a resulting corner, Dean Lishles highest to head home an equaliser.

Burrows star man

DE LA SALLE 17 LIVERPOOL ST HELENS 32

Liverpool St Helens successfully negotiated a passage to the Lancashire Trophy final after triumphing at De La Salle in Salford.

A strong, no nonsense display in which LSH's forwards were particularly dominant brought a satisfying win by four tries to two. Two tries from scrum-half James Burrows, both from the base of strong forward drives close to the De La Salle try-line, were book-ended by a neatly taken score from Greg Smith. This week LSH are at home to Winnington Park. Kick off 3pm.

'We can't blame injuries for Bank Holiday defeat'

SAINTS	20
HULL FC	28

By JOHN YATES
sthelens.sportsdesk@lep.co.uk
@StHelensReport

The folly of playing twice over Easter was there for all to see at Langtree Park on Monday.

Two clubs, who only a few days earlier had been involved in high-profile and win-at-all-cost derbies, produced a low-key, lacklustre and error-riddled 80 minutes and at the same time short-changed an expectant holiday crowd.

The result could have gone either way in what boiled down to a survival of the fittest among a group of already body-weary players and while Saints will be smarting over a third successive Super League setback, they can point to a growing number of serious injuries which condemned them to only their fourth home defeat against the Airlie Birds in the summer era.

Coach Keiron Cunningham refused to use it as an excuse - even though he was forced to hand debuts to rookies Ricky Bailey and Jack Ashworth and utilised Andre Savelio in his starting 13 for the first time.

Cunningham said: "It would have been nice for young Jack and Ricky to make their debuts in a side in a bit of form and under better circumstances.

"They will improve and get better as they play more rugby down the track.

"Ricky is a full back, but I don't think he is ready to play in this position in Super League so we gave him a shot on the wing.

"I didn't want him to have a lasting memory of his debut to be that bad. I gave him a half and then switched things around and brought on some people who I thought would do better.

"They let us down a lot more than Ricky did. I'm not bashing the kids, it was couple of my senior players who let the team down."

There's no doubting that some of Saints' more experienced campaigners were guilty of taking the wrong options at crucial times and that their general play fell well below normal standards.

This was clearly evident by their shaky start in which Hull tested them to the limit with a series of high cross kicks and it came as no surprise when the pressure was rewarded with a third minute try from full-back Jamie Shaul who darted over the whitewash and left Jordan Rankin to add the extras.

Saints responded with two tries in the space of a few minutes through Tommy Makinson and Louie McCarthy Scarsbrook which the former goaled, but the Airlie Birds cut the interval deficit to 12-10 when Curtis Naughton scored out wide.

It set the stage for a see-saw second half in which Hull regained the lead after 48 minutes through Leon Pryce, who by now was becoming a growing influence against his old club.

Rankin added to his goal tally with the conversion before Saints once more edged in front - Jordan Turner forcing his way over and Makinson again converting.

But their slender 18-16 lead didn't last long as Fetuli Talanoa went over 13 minutes from the end, cashing-in on what looked suspiciously like a forward pass.

Makinson restored parity with a long range penalty but the Airlie Birds had the final say - Shaul producing a stunning break to claim his second try which Rankin goaled before a penalty in the dying seconds ensured a Hull victory.

NO EXCUSES AS SAINTS ARE DEFEATED IN BRUTAL DERBY

Tensions rise First Utility Super League match at the DW Stadium Stadium

WIGAN WARRIORS	12
ST HELENS	4

By JOHN YATES
sthelens.sportsdesk@lep.co.uk
@StHelensReport

Keiron Cunningham could easily have used a growing injury crisis as a ready-made excuse for Saints' derby defeat at the DW Stadium, both in the build-up to Good Friday's showdown and during the match itself.

But the head coach was more inclined to praise his players' performance as they battled to overcome adversity in a bone-crunching and often brutal encounter which could have gone either way.

Cunningham said: "It was a great derby game - matches of this kind are always super and never seem to let us down. But the boys are really stinging in the dressing room.

"A couple of bounces of the ball and it might have been different, but I've got to be proud of them all in the circumstances."

The fans, too, saluted their players at the final hooter, acknowledging a totally dedicated and committed display which came close to defying what looked like insurmountable odds.

Warriors' Lee Mossop just can't ground the ball for a try

The loss of skipper Jon Wilkin on the eve of the match with a hamstring problem in a week in which they also lost fellow playmaker Travis Burns and Atelea Vea due to injuries was bad enough, but when Joe Greenwood was forced to limp off in the first half and was followed four minutes after the break by stand-in skipper Paul Wellens, Saints had a mountain to climb.

And while they failed to scale Everest with a squad of players also missing Luke Walsh, Mark Percival and Jonny Lomax, they lost little in defeat.

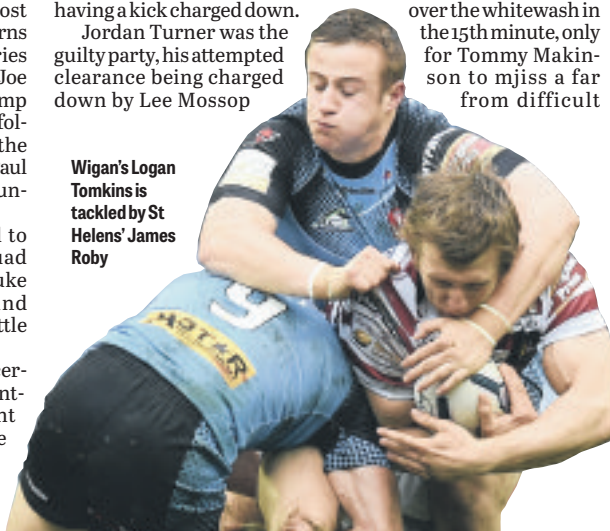

The DW Stadium was certainly no place for the faint-hearted from the moment Wigan struck with one of the fastest-ever tries to grace this famous fixture.

Only 60 seconds had elapsed on the clock when, not for the first time this season, Saints suffered the ultimate punishment after having a kick charged down.

Jordan Turner was the guilty party, his attempted clearance being charged down by Lee Mossop before a kind bounce of the ball gifted Dom Manfredi the chance to touch down, with Matty Smith landing the conversion.

The try certainly lit the blue touchpaper to an explosive 80 minutes which, despite a dearth of genuine scoring opportunities due to some exceptional defending and thunderous tackling, had the crowd on the edge of their seats from start to finish.

It didn't, however, take Saints long to overcome the shock of their stunning early setback - Louie McCarthy-Scarsbrook forcing his way over the whitewash in the 15th minute, only for Tommy Makinson to miss a far from difficult conversion.

But, from then on, the sides rarely threatened to break the stalemate until 10 minutes from time when Wigan unlocked the visitors' defiant defensive door for a second time with an imaginative piece of approach play.

Saints turned over possession under growing Wigan pressure 25 metres from their own line and the visionary George Williams was given time and space to deliver an inch-perfect kick into the hands of Joe Burgess who plunged over the whitewash in the left-hand corner.

Ryan Hampshire slotted over the conversion to put Wigan virtually out of sight and give the Cherry and Whites local bragging rights... at least until their next league meeting at Langtree Park in June, or even earlier if they come face-to-face in the sixth round of the Challenge Cup.

Boss full of praise for side after Wigan loss

Keiron Cunningham was full of praise for his Saints side following their defeat against arch-rivals Wigan.

He said: "I thought it was a brilliant effort. We came into the game without our in-form half back, Travis Burns, and then we lost skipper Jon Wilkin in the captain's run with a hamstring problem.

"It left us zero time to do anything as a team together - but I am not using it as an excuse as I know there are other teams in a similar predicament.

"So to put yourself in the situation to be in the game for 70-odd minutes is good. We had a scratchy start by conceding a first minute try from a charge-down, but Wigan didn't really break our systems which pleased me.

"It was a great derby game - matches of this kind are always super and never let you down - but I was disappointed at losing both Joe Greenwood and Paul Wellens to injury.

"Joe has been in a rich vein of form this season and had just returned to the starting line-up following a previous knock, while in Wello's case we are dealing with a recurring injury which we are trying to manage the best we can.

"Had it been any other player than Paul, who I can best describe as a warrior, he would never have started the game. I trust his judgement - he didn't want to let me or the team down. He got through the first half comfortably and I thought everything was okay but, at half-time, he looked horrendous, even though he assured us he would be alright.

"However, as soon as we went out for the second half, it was clear that he would not be right and we had to take him off. We had devised a back up plan in case of this eventuality but it had not involved losing Greenwood as well."

Cunningham praised the Saints pack and make-shift half-back pairing - but singled out try-scorer Louie McCarthy-Scarsbrook for special mention.

"I felt on the day our forwards made a massive contribution and Louie McCarthy-Scarsbrook, in particular, was absolutely outstanding," he said.

'One match ban is no punishment for breaking bones'

SAINTS

Saints chairman Eamonn McManus has accused the powers that be of inconsistency after Travis Burns sustained a broken cheekbone against his former club.

Hull KR prop James Green was banned for one game despite breaking Burns' cheekbone in three places with a late shoulder charge just two minutes into last Friday's game.

McManus told of his frustration at the incident and said it raised "critical issues for the game which cannot be ignored or suppressed any longer".

In a statement, he said: "In the immediate aftermath of the Grand Final, I publicly stated that the combined inconsistency of officiating on the pitch and the disciplinary decisions off it had created an environment capable of exploitation, innocent or otherwise.

"Only a month ago Kyle Amor was banned for two games for an accidental dangerous tackle which neither hurt nor injured anyone.

"How can you reconcile this with no sending off and a one match ban for a late shoulder to the head by a prop which breaks a half-back's cheekbone?"

McManus said he did not believe Saints were being singled out, but claimed the foundations of the game and player welfare were at stake.

"An environment of confused rule application on the pitch, compounded by inconsistent disciplinary sanction off it, will inevitably lead to unnecessary serious player injury as well as a disillusioned fan base," he said.

"In addition to obvious player welfare concerns there is, equally importantly, a consequent commercial ill-effect for the entire game as well as for individual clubs.

"There is no point in making strong commercial progress, which the

'I can see no signs of progress since I raised an alarm bell' game recently has, if it is to be undermined by inconsistent officiating and disciplinary."

He added: "The RFL and Super League have made great commercial progress in recent times, for which they are to be congratulated.

"However, this makes it all the more imperative that effective action is taken so as not to neutralise this.

"I can see no signs of progress since I raised what I considered to be a major alarm bell on this situation after last year's Grand Final."

Four match ban for Graham

Former Saints prop James Graham has been banned for four matches for his conduct in an NRL game which ended in crowd trouble and an injury to an official.

The 29-year-old Canterbury skipper was punished for a late tackle on South Sydney half-back Adam Reynolds as he attempted to charge down a kick.

He was also charged for his aggressive reaction to referee Gerard Sutton.

Reynolds is set to have scans this week after a ligament came away from a bone in his knee. He could be facing up to five months on the sidelines.

Bulldogs fans later targeted officials after their team lost 18-17.

One official was injured after supporters threw bottles.

New South Wales police confirmed that another official injured a shoulder in a fall. They have identified two people for "allegedly throwing bottles".

Graham's team-mates David Klemmer and Sam Kasiano were also suspended.

Klemmer, sin-binned for abusing the referee for the Graham decision, has been banned for three matches, while Kasiano was hit with a two-match ban after being found guilty of dangerous conduct.

Graham has endured a chequered disciplinary history since moving from Saints to the NRL at the end of 2011.

He was banned for 12 matches after appearing to bite Aussie full-back Billy Slater's ear in a clash in the 2012 Grand Final.

Saints are hit by more injury woe as in-form Greenwood breaks leg during Good Friday war with Wigan Warriors

By JOHN YATES

sthelens.sportsdesk@lep.co.uk
@StHelensReport

Saints have been rocked by an unprecedented run of early season injuries which, in the long term, could jeopardise their chances of retaining the Super League crown.

Joe Greenwood is the latest player to be hit by the club's injury jinx - breaking his leg in the first half of the Good Friday derby encounter against Wigan Warriors - and faces a prolonged spell on the sidelines.

The second rower, who celebrated his 22nd birthday at the beginning of the month, joins a seemingly never-ending list of casualties which reads like a waiting room queue at the local hospital's A and E department.

This includes Luke Walsh (broken leg), Jon Wilkin (hamstring), Travis Burns (fractured cheekbone), Atel-vea Vea (fractured shoulder), Mark Percival (medial ligament damage), Paul Wellens (on-going hip problem), and Jonny Lomax (potentially season-ending knee injury).

Skipper Wilkin, however, is hoping to be fit for Sunday's match against the Huddersfield Giants at the John Smith's Stadium, while Walsh, who hasn't played since the end of July last year, cannot be too far off pulling on the famous Red-Vee shirt once more.

Coach Keiron Cunningham said at the weekend: "Hopefully, Luke will be back in the next couple of weeks. He is looking good in training but he has a time frame to reach and only then will the specialist pass him fit."

Fortunately - if that's the right word to use in the circumstances - most of Saints' long-term injuries have resulted in clean breaks with no complications and fingers crossed it will lead to a speedier recovery than normal in most cases.

Neither did they suffer any further serious setbacks in the Hull game, which they will look on as a blessing in disguise, but at the same time the below-par performance of both sides questioned the wisdom of playing two tough games over the Easter weekend.

Cunningham said: "I think playing twice in such a short period of time is the worst concept in the world and, while I might sound like a bitter coach after losing both, I would have felt just the same had we picked up all four points on offer."
